NORTHWEST MISSOURI STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 41—NO. 21

Meriville, Missouri

Wednesday, June 15, 1955

President's Message . . .

I wish to welcome the summer students to the campus of the Northwest Missouri State College. You are to be congratulated upon your interest in your own professional advancement. I trust that you will return to your schools next fall better prepared to serve the boys and girls of your school.

Your college is eager to have its graduate students do outstanding work in this first offering of graduate work at the college. The reputation of the college depends upon the quality of the work done by the students. The college has made an effort to have conditions here that are conducive to superior work.

With the opening of school in the fall we shall enter upon the Golden Anniversary year of the college. The college invites the summer students to make plans to share in the opportunities on the campus to make this anniversary year an outstanding one.

Your suggestions are invited as to ways and means by which your college might improve its service to you.

J. W. Jones,
President

Campus Has Improvements

This summer finds the college administration carrying on an extensive program of campus improvements. These improvements are designed to make life on the campus a little bit easier and more convenient for all concerned.

Topping the list of recent improvements is the resurfacing of the asphalt walks. The former surface had settled so low that water from rain and snow tended to run to the center of the walk and make a canal instead of a walkway. The new surface consists of five layers. The first layer was a priming of asphalt spread over the old surface. This was followed by a thick layer of crushed rock which was sealed by another priming coat to hold the rock together and keep out moisture. The fourth and fifth layers consisted of a thick coating of asphalt mixed with rock and followed by a finishing surface of fine sand. The new surface is now approximately eight inches thick and so designed that water will run to the side rather than the center of the walk. The contractor for the work was the Ulery Oil and Asphalt Company.

The new parking lot just west of the bus barns has been graded, and it is now waiting for crushed rock in order to be ready for use.

Other improvements in progress or being contemplated are the building of a storage room for the concession stand under the stadium and the building of a retaining wall along the tennis courts to keep water from running across the cement.

Dean Brandenburg Returns From Trip

Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, dean of the faculty, has recently returned from a two weeks' trip during which he attended the International Assembly of Rotary District Governors at Lake Placid, New York, and the International Convention of Rotary at Chicago, Illinois.

According to Dean Brandenburg, the Lake Placid Assembly is a workshop and training school for the governors elect of the 230 Rotary districts in the world. The Dean is the governor elect from the local district No. 194 which covers twenty-five counties in north central and northwest Missouri. He will take office on July 1st of this year.

After the close of the District Governors' Assembly, Dr. Brandenburg attended the Rotary International Convention in Chicago. He reports that more than 20,000 persons from more than 60 countries were in attendance at the convention.

One of the chief projects of Rotary Clubs throughout the world is the promotion of international understanding through a program of student exchange between countries. This project is of special interest

Enrollment

According to the latest figures desire on the part of the residents in this area to receive more and better education and the desire of those who are already teaching to continue their education are making themselves felt on the campus of Northwest Missouri State College this summer.

As the Northwest Missourian goes to press, there is a total of 632 students enrolled in the summer session. This represents an increase of 21% over last summer's total of 522.

Thirty-six of the 632 total are graduate students enrolled for the first time in the newly inaugurated Graduate Division program. According to reports received from the first meeting of the students and faculty of the Graduate Division, this group is going to provide an excellent beginning for the program.

Division of Music Receives New Organ

Because of many conflicts in scheduling the use of the auditorium, a new electronic practice organ has been installed on the Division of Music's fourth floor.

The new organ is made by the Baldwin Piano Company and, according to Mr. Gerhard Krapf, organ instructor, it is highly recommended by the American Guild of Organists as being one of the best of its kind for practice use.

Improvements have been made in ten years' research since the older organ in the auditorium was purchased.

An improved pedal is the main feature of the new organ. It has a full, 32-note, pedal keyboard and a much better balanced tone than have previous models.

The addition of this instrument to the facilities of the music department will be helpful in caring for organ students.

College Offers Work Toward M. S. Degree

The summer of 1955 marks the reaching of another milestone in the history of Northwest Missouri State College. After three years of intensive study and planning, the school has inaugurated a program of graduate study leading to the Master of Science in Education degree. This program is planned and conducted for persons who

Your President

Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College, is the representative from this area on the Missouri Council of Citizens and Educators. The first meeting of the group was held last week in Jefferson City in compliance with Public Law 530, Eighty-Third Congress, which provides for educational conferences in states prior to a White House Conference on Education in Washington, D. C.

See "The Titan" Today In Regular Assembly

"The Titan," a motion picture depicting the works of Michelangelo, is to be featured at the opening assembly of the summer session today.

Through the use of special lighting effects and odd camera shots, this narrative type film will give a brief look at a few of the works of this great sculptor, thereby shedding a new light on a subject found to be difficult for many students studying humanities.

Notice

All students who expect to receive a degree this summer should sign an application in the Registrar's Office.

desire to do advanced study in fields for which they have already met the minimum requirements for certification in the State of Missouri.

According to Dr. W. A. Brandenburg, chairman of the Graduate Program Committee, seven instructional units of the College are co-operating in the initial phase of the program with fields of major study in business, elementary education, English, history, and social sciences. The number of fields of major study will be increased as the conditions warrant.

Courses carrying graduate credit are being offered both in the summer session and in the regular academic year. A limited offering will be available on the evening and Saturday program of the regular nine-month year.

The normal time for completing the degree will be two winters of part time study and two summers of full time study. For those who attend summer sessions only, a minimum of four summers' attendance will be required.

Concentrated effort toward the establishment of a graduate study program at Northwest Missouri State College was begun about three years ago. At that time, the faculty began a period of intensive study on the advisability of offering such an advanced program. This study resulted in a self-survey report on the facilities of the College to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. A favorable opinion from that body resulted in the establishment of the graduate program by the Board of Regents. The other schools of the five state colleges having the graduate study program are Kirksville, Warrensburg, and Springfield, the last mentioned having a graduate program in conjunction with the University of Missouri.

Social Committee Plans Activities

The social activities on the campus this summer look as though they will keep everyone from 18 to 80 jumping.

Topping the summer social committee's list of major social events is the all school square dance to be held on Monday, June 20. According to Miss Lois Simons, chairman of the committee, the affair will be held on the tennis courts just east of the gymnasium at 7:30 p. m.

The highlight of the second month will be an all school picnic in College Park on July 14. Definite plans are still in the making for this event.

Wednesday night movies will also be featured this summer. On tap for showing in the Bearcats' Den are "Snows of Kilimanjaro," "Centennial Summer," "Viva Zapata," "Follow the Sun," and "Swanee River." The pictures will start at 7 p. m.; the charge is twenty-five cents.

The members of the summer social committee in addition to Miss Simons are Dr. June Cozine, Mr. Everett Brown, Mr. Lon Wilson, Mr. R. P. Foster, Dr. Charles E. Koerble, Mr. Ryland Miller, and Mr. Donald Sandford.

Social Committee Says, "How About a Movie?"

It's Truth We Seek

By Harry G. Dildine

Every college and university, it is assumed, is an institution committed to a program directed toward the discovery and advancement of truth. There is something distinctive about our college: it was with splendid clarity of insight and high nobility of purpose that the pioneers of education in northwest Missouri condensed their aspirations for us in the language of the motto which anyone may read from over the door of the main entrance to the Administration Building. By that declaration, whoever becomes a member of the college community shares in the pledge to seek for the truth. He recognizes, furthermore, that truth, when found, functions as a liberator of human mentality and of physical energy as well. Truth must be regarded as both an end in itself and as a means to the perfection of the person who becomes the possessor of its virility.

This word truth stands for something brought up from the deepest foundations from which human understandings are derived. It is only those judgments which have the capacity to force themselves upon our acceptance that deserve our respect as truths. No such compulsion is effective until every available and relevant means of observation and experience has been challenged to reveal the depth or the superficiality of the conclusions offered to us. Partial truths; half truths emerge along the way, and they may serve, each within its own limitations, to advance our progress toward a fuller recognition of reality, or to justify laudable expenditures on temporary projects. But truth, when duly sought and fully accredited, brings peculiar feeling of relationship to reality, its own product in the form of rest, finality, and certainty. Possessors of that feeling begin to act without hesitation and to pour out lavishly of their energies without misgivings. In what else do any of us find such freedom to pursue our supreme objectives or to engage to exhaust our resources in some well-chosen life project? What else so justifies the exercise of independent personal initiative?

Our motto is a clause taken from the Fourth Gospel as given in the Christian New Testament. In that passage, the truth to which attention is directed, without discounting legitimate conclusions in other areas, is truth in that realm of reality which concerns human relations. Progress in that area of development was included, also, in the thought of those who chose the motto for us. Nothing less than our adoption of it in its full meaning will fulfill the investment anticipations of those who offer to us the privileges provided by the expenditures on this beautiful campus.

The Stroller . . .

Well, "ye olde" stroller is here again. Back in the saddle, trying to bring you the interesting sidelights and humorous anecdotes that make up the lighter side of life on the campus at NWMSC.

Summer school presents quite a contrast to the regular term—the hustle and bustle of the many social activities of the spring soon quiet down into the busy hum of concentrated study. In fact, the atmosphere of the summer session affected one girl so much that she was prompted to state: "Do you know? I might even study tonight! If I don't watch out, I'm going to become a brain."

There is at least one student in school this term. On her news bureau card in the space marked "student" she wrote "yes." That space is really supposed to be filled in with the student's name.

The studious attitude is really everywhere. The reserve room in the library is nearly always filled to capacity, and reserve books are "as scarce as hens' teeth."

Registration often brings many interesting facts into the light. Did you know that Bob Wilson might be 128 years o According to his registration card, he doesn't know whether he was graduated from Sheridan High School in 1946 or 1846.

Only one thing seems to have escaped the change from spring to summer—the eternal card game in the Den,—and even it has been curtailed somewhat because the Den is closed at night.

Incidentally, if you are in doubt about the exact hours that many campus offices and services are open, why not clip out the list that appears in this issue of the Northwest Missourian and tape it to your notebook?

The Stroller's hat is off to the College Administration for its foresight in resurfacing the asphalt walks on the campus. Many of the walks were beginning to break up, and it is nice to see them being repaired before they completely deteriorate. Also—many thanks to Miss Lois Simons for installing a fan in the T. V. room. It not only helps keep the room cool, but it makes a good foot stool. Just ask our editor if you don't believe me.

Dr. Sterling Surrey has charge of the faculty lounge this month, and he seems to take great joy in doling out custodial duties to various faculty members.

Slow Down and Live

"SLOW! SLOW DOWN . . .

. . . and Live!" says the Missouri State Highway Patrol. The 101 days from Memorial Day weekend past Independence Day and through to the close of Labor Day are the period of greatest highway use—for both recreation and business. Our already overcrowded highways will be teeming with automobiles, busses and trucks of all descriptions. The fast driver is a menace to everyone on the road. States, counties and municipalities are united to reduce traffic deaths in this summer season.

Don't you be guilty of having the "IN A HURRY" complex! Remember—excessive Speed, following too closely, failing to yield the right of way, improper passing—all can lead the parade past your bier. Heed these words of warning: "SLOW DOWN and Live!"

They're Talking

They're Talking About Summer School . . . those who were here in the spring are still talking about the spring semester . . . and the majority look to the future . . . August and the last day of school. They're talking about Davy Crockett or the only man who inhabits the dorm after hours . . . They're talking about picnics and smoked wiener at Roadside . . . heap smoke . . . no fire. They're talking about the student faculty cooler . . . naturally someone complains of the cooler . . . wait until winter and we have a warmer . . . They're talking about Speech 51 . . . everyone saying phonetically da-da-da and, gee, that speech wasn't so bad . . . Compliments of the broken crystal ball . . . we'll have to wait until next week to see what they're talking about next week.

Joseph Sherman, Jr. Receives Law Degree

Joseph A. Sherman, Jr., son of Mrs. Faye Sherman, secretary to the Dean of the Faculty, recently received his degree in law from the University of Kansas City in Kansas City, Missouri.

Mr. Sherman attended Northwest Missouri State College from the winter quarter in 1946 until the spring of 1949. From there he went to Washington, D. C., to accept a position with the F. B. I. and then he returned to Kansas City to complete his education.

Erects College Sign

Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity on the campus, has erected a large, permanent sign at the entrance of the campus. Officers of the fraternity are Bill Schultz, president; John Harvey, vice-president; Eldon Patterson, secretary; Elbert Blair, treasurer; Hiram Lilley, reporter; and Stanley Stuart, project chairman. Sponsors are Mr. Leonard Levy and Mr. Myrl Long.

Golden Rain Tree . . .

By Maurice Sullivan

No one who attends during the summer session can help noticing the beautiful golden blossoms of the Golden Rain Tree. In early June of each year, the Golden Rain Tree begins a display which lasts until early August.

First, large panicles of golden-yellow blossoms appear for about three weeks; then the fruit, bright yellow-green seed capsules, appear. By August, the seed capsules will have turned brown, so that the tree appears to be in bloom throughout the summer.

The Golden Rain Tree is located near the street on the east side of the front walk leading from the Administration Building. It is thought to have been planted there as a companion to the Chinese Scholar Tree which grows on the west side of the walk. The biological name of the Golden Rain Tree is Koelreuteria paniculata, (pronounced kol roy tear e ah pan-ic u la-ta). Koelreuteria was named in honor of Joseph Gottlieb Koelreuter, an eighteenth-century German naturalist. Koelreuteria paniculata is one of five species of Koelreuteria which are found in China and Japan.

The paniculata is often confused with the Pride of India, China Tree, Varnish Tree, and the Golden Chain Tree. It is hardy as far north as Massachusetts, but it will kill back during severe winters.

Normally, this species is rather short-lived, but the tree on this campus is known to be more than seventeen years old. The Golden Rain Tree can stand drought and hot winds well and is used in this area as an ornamental tree.

The tree on the campus is widely-known to residents of northwest Missouri and continues to delight visitors with its annual display.

Notes About the Faculty . . .

In May of this year, Dr. Leon F. Miller, director of Horace Mann Laboratory School, completed a research committee study on campus laboratory schools for the Laboratory School Administrators division of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The study included thirty elementary and secondary schools. Working on the committee was Dr. Miller, were Dr. John D. Mees, principal of the University School at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois; and Dr. Stuart A. Anderson, Director of Teacher Training at Eastern Illinois State College, Charleston, Illinois.

Mr. R. T. Wright, chairman of the agriculture department, will not necessarily find his time all his own while on leave of absence from the College this summer.

On the 15th of this month he will be attending the registered ram sale at Sedalia, Mo. From Sedalia he will continue on to Columbia, Mo., where he will take part in a meeting on the 16th and 17th of June in regard to revisions to be made in the elementary school curriculum of Missouri. The 18th of June will find him attending a meeting of the American Landrace Hog Breeder's Association also to be held in Columbia.

Mr. Wright's plans for July are indefinite although he is considering attending Colorado A & M during the four week short course.

Dr. Sterling Surrey, chairman, Division of Business, had an article, "The Case Method of Instruction Adapted to Undergraduate Courses," in the May issue of Collegiate News and Views, published by South-Western Publishing Company.

In the article Dr. Surrey points out the steps to be followed in solving problems by the case method. He believes that the student can extend the solution of the particular difficulty into a form of knowledge which will enable him to evaluate other difficulties containing similar characteristics.

It is difficult to teach undergraduates by the case method of instruction as much of the background for the course has to come from the instructor. It is also difficult to find cases which are not too complex for undergraduate students. Dr. Surrey has experimented with the case study method for eighteen years. He had the case method as a student at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

William J. Massey, instructor in education courses during this summer term, was in Columbia, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, where he received a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Missouri. Dr. Massey, who is new on the campus this summer, is a native of central Louisiana. He received his undergraduate training from the Northwestern State College at Natchitoches, Louisiana, and he has done all of his graduate work at Missouri University. Dr. Massey is married and has two children. His wife and children are residing in Columbia at the present time.

William B. Cadier has been employed as assistant librarian here at NWMSC. Mr. Cadier holds a M. A. degree in library science from St. John's University.

He has recently been employed as librarian at the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, New Mexico, and he has also had teaching experience at Niagara University. Mr. and Mrs. Cadier are expected to arrive in Maryville next month.

College Swimming Pool to Open Two Evenings Each Week

Faculty, Students to Have Protection of Life Guards

The College swimming pool is open to all College students between the hours of 4:00 and 5:30 p.m., on Tuesday and Thursday.

Coach Milner stated that the pool should be used for fun, health, and pleasure. He added also that life guards will be on duty at these hours.

Faculty members and their families are welcome to use the pool at the same time as the students. It is requested that children under twelve must be accompanied by their parents.

It has been difficult for the college recreational leaders to organize a softball league on the campus this summer as there are not enough students interested.

Golf may be played by students at the Maryville Country Club every day except Saturday, Sunday, and holidays. There will be no charge for the recreation on the greens, but every student must have a golf permit.

Anyone interested in playing tennis can play at all hours of the day.

Dr. J. W. Jones Talks on Problems

Dr. J. W. Jones, in speaking to the Monday Forum, June 13, urged the thorough discussion of the several problems being considered by the Missouri Council of Citizens and Educators.

Some are as follows: What do the people want their schools to accomplish? How shall we get enough teachers to care for the increasing enrollments? What are our building needs in the immediate future? How shall we pay for the education of the increasing number of children at all levels of our school systems?

Dr. Jones urged that all civic groups devote some attention to the study of the proposals for meeting the educational problems in Missouri passed by the recent General Assembly. The foundation program for the Missouri schools was outlined, and this recommendation will come before the voters Oct. 4.
